Institute on Aging Welcomes Four New Board Members

San Francisco, CA - The Institute on Aging recently welcomed four new members to its Board of Directors with expertise in corporate finance, corporate management, legal matters, and gerontology.

Andy Fisher, of Portola Valley, was responsible for advising technology and growth companies on public and private capital-raising in the roles of Managing Director/Head of Technology Equity Capital Markets for Goldman Sachs & Co. in San Francisco and at Credit Suisse in New York, Hong Kong, and Palo Alto. He serves on the Advisory Council for the Center of Art and Public Life, as well as the Board of Directors of the Menlo Country Club. He received his undergraduate degree from Yale University.

Anne Hinton of Redwood City has had a 40-year career developing programs and public policy related to older adults and adults with disabilities. She has extensive experience in every level of the long term care continuum, with a deep understanding and comprehensive perspective of the challenges, issues and possibilities related to developing and implementing long term care strategies. Most recently she served as Executive Director of San Francisco’s Department of Aging and Adult Services for more than a decade, where she provided vision and leadership for the continuum of long term care services in San Francisco including over 350 employees, contracts with 44 community-based organizations and an annual budget of $230M. Anne earned her Bachelor’s degree in Sociology from Dakota Wesleyan University, and her Master’s in Education/Gerontology from Holy Names College in Oakland, California.

Marlene Litvak, of San Francisco, most recently served as General Counsel and Vice President for Nikon Precision Inc. (NPI), a U.S. subsidiary of Nikon Corporation that is engaged in the semiconductor manufacturing industry. She led the legal department at NPI for over 31 years, and was appointed as the company’s first female Vice President in 1999. She also managed legal matters for NPI’s sister company, Nikon Research Corporation of America, with a focus on intellectual property and patents. Prior to NPI, she was an attorney in the General Counsel’s Office of Bank of America and in the Civil Rights Division of the U.S. Department of Justice in Washington D.C. She earned her Bachelor’s degree from UCLA where she also went on to earn her law degree.

Theresa Matacia, CFA is an accomplished and collaborative strategic and operationally focused finance executive with deep experience in defining and implementing financial and operational strategies. She has served as Chief Financial Officer for Mission Hub, a global marketplace for social innovation based in San Francisco, as well as Declara, Inc., an early Stage Global Social Knowledge SAAS platform. Her deep financial experience was also honed in a consulting role as Financial and Operational Strategist and then CFO at Securieon Group. Matacia earned her Bachelor’s degree in Psychology from Virginia Commonwealth University and her MBA from San Francisco State University.

"We are pleased to add the collective wisdom and experience of these new board members to the Institute on Aging," says IOA Board Chairperson, Meryl Brod, PhD. "They bring a wealth of knowledge and expertise that will help us continue to improve the lives of older adults and assist in their independence in the Bay Area."

About Institute on Aging
Founded in 1985, Institute on Aging (IOA) is one of Northern California’s largest community-based nonprofit organizations providing comprehensive health, social, and psychological services for seniors and adults with disabilities. IOA’s mission is to enhance the quality of life for adults as they age, by enabling them to maintain their health, well-being, independence, and participation in the community. Long considered one of the most innovative and diverse organizations of its kind, Institute on Aging currently touches the lives of more than 20,000 seniors and adults with disabilities and their families each year through programs designed to alleviate isolation, and enable older adults to continue living independently in the community. IOA’s services support individuals in San Francisco, Marin, San Mateo, Sacramento, Contra Costa and Santa Clara counties. The Friendship Line reaches older and disabled adults in all 50 states.
